Coaching Modules

The Coaching with Spirit coaching modules incorporate the development of the ICF Core Competencies, with special attention given to the client setting the agenda, presence-based coaching, developing trust, asking powerful questions, direct communication, and the management of progress and accountability. The coach learns to enter a client's inner system respectfully and to cooperate with its innate wisdom and its natural ability to heal.

Module 1: Fundamentals: An Introduction to Coaching with Spirit

This course presents the ICF core competencies, the ICF code of ethics, the definition of coaching, and the four cornerstones of coaching. The four cornerstones are that people are naturally creative, all parts of a client are welcome, the client sets the agenda, and coaching focuses on the client not the problem. The concept of the presenting agenda and deeper agenda are described. The students learn and practice the three levels of listening and powerful questions. Lastly, the students learn the outline of a basic coaching session, including establishing the coaching agreement, establishing trust, maintaining presence, and direct communication, followed by coaching practice in dyads.

Module 2: Awakening: A Pathway to Transformation

After students learn the fundamentals, the coach trainer describes the four pathways of coaching. The first pathway is that of Awakening. Students learn the concept of fulfillment in life and how it relates to inner passion, vision, and overcoming challenges and obstacles. The steps in this process are to (1) connect clients to their vision; (2) set a resonant goal that draws the client into their vision and making those steps resonant and accountable; and (3) help the client to welcome the inner protectors who have reservations about change, uncovering what is getting in the way of manifesting the vision. This course presents a visualization exercise showing the students how to connect with their vision and passion. Included in this course are the topics of designing action, planning and goal setting, managing progress and accountability, and asking powerful questions among others.

Module 3: Perspectives: A Pathway to Transformation

The core idea of this course is that we always are in a perspective; other perspectives are available; and we are always at choice in the perspective we live from. Students learn how to work with their clients to explore multiple perspectives. Students learn definitions of perspective, how it relates to physical expression, emotion, worldview, and energy. They learn how to work with clients to find the topic, explore at least three perspectives, chose a perspective to create from utilizing powerful questions, and brainstorm possible actions with a commitment to one, with accountability specified. The instructor demonstrates the use of a three-by-three grid for the client to physically move to a different geographic location when exploring a different perspective, generating new perspectives and leading to greater awareness. Students also begin to learn to design actions and set up accountability.

Module 4: Now: A Pathway to Transformation

The core question in coaching with the Now pathway is what is true in the present moment; how can we accept ourselves as we are right now. In Now, the focus is on the client's internal experience in the present moment. Students learn to create awareness by noticing and naming something in the client's experience. With the client's permission, the coach asks powerful questions to allow the client to fully experience what is arising in the moment. In this process, when the client fully accepts and experiences what is arising, and can accept that just as it is, a shift in energy and consciousness may occur. With this shift, the coach integrates this new experience with insight. Holding silence, awareness of the wisdom of the body, and connecting to source are important components of this process.

Module 5: Final Review of the Principles and Pathways of Coaching

This course reviews all of the principles, competencies and pathways of coaching. Included is the decision point as to which path to take, and, by dancing in the moment, how to transition to a different pathway as the session evolves. The students review Awakening, Perspectives, Now, and Parts as it relates to coaching.

Module 6: Group and Individual Mentoring

This course convenes on five separate occasions over at time period of 5 months. The students take turns coaching in front of a small group. After the coaching, the instructor first elicits feedback from the coach and then from a designated observer. Finally, the instructor provides feedback. All present benefit from the feedback offered during this course.

Module 7: Independent Study – Mastering the Core Competencies

Students are required to engage in 14 hours of independent self-study. To fulfill this requirement, students are to read and study documents on core competencies. Examples are:

1. Required Reading:
 - a. Happier, Tal Ben Shahar
 - b. Introduction to the Internal Family Systems Model, Richard C. Schwartz.
2. Listening to ICF Core Competency conference calls – links will be provided.

Students are also required to develop their own guidelines for a coaching session that includes the core competencies, and self-analyze a coaching session utilizing the self-created guidelines.
